NCEA Curriculum Refresh

So what is NCEA?

The National Certificate of Educational Achievement (NCEA) is the main school leaving qualification in Aotearoa New Zealand. Around 150,000 students study each year towards an NCEA.

What is NCEA?

Introduced in 2002, NCEA is widely considered credible and robust, both in Aotearoa New Zealand and overseas.

It is recognised by employers and used by students as a stepping stone into employment, apprenticeships, and a wide range of further study options – from apprenticeships and trades training to degree-level study.

NCEA has three levels:

- Level 1 — usually in Year 11
- Level 2 — usually in Year 12
- Level 3 — usually in Year 13

At present, a student needs to achieve a total of 80 credits to attain an NCEA qualification at each level. Credits are gained towards an NCEA qualification if a student achieves a standard.

What is a standard?

Each standard describes what a student needs to know, or what they must be able to achieve, in order to meet the standard.

THERE ARE INTERNALS AND EXTERNALS

There are two types of standards that contribute to NCEA:

- Achievement Standards - these recognise learning from our National Curriculum subjects. Students can achieve these standards with grades of: Achieved with Excellence, Achieved with Merit, Achieved, Not Achieved.
- Unit Standards - these recognise learning in other areas (such as vocational learning and Te ao Māori). These standards usually only offer Achieved or Not Achieved grades (ie, they are either pass or fail).
